

KINNEY NAMED AS HEAD OF SCHOOLS

Governor Pinkham Announces Resignation of Thomas H. Gibson as Superintendent of Public Instruction of Territory and Appointment of Newspaperman to Fill Vacancy.

Henry Walsworth Kinney, editor of the Hilo Tribune, was yesterday appointed by Governor Pinkham to succeed Thomas H. Gibson, resigned, as superintendent of the department of territorial public instruction. Superintendent Gibson will step out of office on May 1, at which time his successor will take the reins of the department of education.

It was announced yesterday that the Governor has had Mr. Gibson's resignation in his hands for some months, but that it was only yesterday that the chief executive had been able to decide to accept it and name a successor. Coincident with the acceptance of Mr. Gibson's resignation came the appointment of Mr. Kinney.

Editor Kinney's appointment to head the educational department of the Territory does not come as a surprise and was expected by those who have lately followed the trend of political movements. When Mr. Kinney was in Honolulu three weeks ago it became definitely known that it was only a question of time when his selection and appointment would be officially announced.

Governor Outlines Policy. In connection with his announcement of Kinney's appointment, Governor Pinkham has taken occasion to outline the policy he will follow in the selection and appointment of new heads of departments in the following statement prepared by the Governor for the press:

"The resignation of T. H. Gibson, superintendent of public instruction, has been accepted to take effect May 1, and Henry W. Kinney of Hilo has been appointed to that position, beginning with that date.

"The Governor will with deliberation and due consideration make such further changes as he believes to be in the public interest in meeting the conditions that confront the Territory. In some departments a new head not committed to certain policies will be better enabled to make necessary changes."

Other Announcements Delayed. Speaking of future appointments Governor Pinkham yesterday stated to the Advertiser that he did not expect to make further announcements for several days. He explained this by stating that inasmuch as the department of justice at Washington still remained silent in the matter of the recommendations forwarded by the Governor for circuit judgeships he felt that he could not for some time to come make further local appointments. The Governor may have to change his mind as to certain men whom he has in view for heads of departments in accordance with whatever action is taken in Washington on the question of judgeships.

Governor Pinkham's choice for superintendent of the school department, H. W. Kinney, has resided in the Territory for many years. He was formerly a school teacher and later entered the newspaper field in Honolulu as a reporter on one of the local dailies. From Honolulu he moved to Hilo when he was appointed editor of the Tribune, a position he has held for some years.

Interested in School Work. Mr. Kinney has always taken keen interest in the work of the school department and for years has urged a reorganization of the system, his editorials on the subject having been many and terse. Editor Kinney, as a newspaper writer and editor, has an original literary style and the reader is entertained by the manner in which he handles both news and editorial comment, which usually embody a well balanced portion of humor and common sense to the extent that make entertaining reading.

Kinney has been a live wire in Hilo and the island of Hawaii and has worked cheerfully and unselfishly for the progress and betterment of the Big Island, its people and its industries. His contribution to the Hilo Tribune that practically forced the investigation of the Hawaii county graft scandal and his insistence that every person whose hands had illegally drawn coin from the public coffers should be placed behind bars and in stripes brought about a betterment in the conditions of the county.

"The island of Hawaii," a finely gotten up 100-page descriptive and illustrated book on the beauties and industries of the Big Island is the work of his pen and is today considered an authority for reliable information as to the Big Island.

Graduate of California University. Kinney is a graduate of the University of California. He also took a course at the University of Stockholm and later finished with a post graduate course at the former university.

Superintendent T. H. Gibson, who retired on May 1, was appointed by Governor Frear on June 5 of last year, succeeding Willis T. Pope, who resigned shortly after the thorough investigation carried on by the joint committee appointed by the last legislature.

Prior to his appointment as superintendent of public instruction, Mr. Gibson was for many years inspector general of public schools, being succeeded, when he was promoted, by George S.

Raymond, who now holds the position. It was understood generally at the time of Mr. Gibson's appointment as superintendent that his regime would be temporary. Governor Frear, who was then endeavoring to leave the executive job himself, feeling it was said that his successor should make the definite selection. It is not known at this time whether Mr. Gibson will continue in the school department in some other capacity. His many years' connection with the school work in the Territory have fitted him well in this line of official endeavor. Since his appointment as superintendent of the department, Mr. Gibson has given satisfaction to the public. The unrest and criticism which practically forced the retirement of former Superintendent Pope subsided entirely when Gibson was selected to succeed him.

WIRELESS OF GREAT SERVICE TO SURVEYORS

WASHINGTON, March 23.—The latest known use to which wireless is to be put is in fixing the boundary lines through hundreds of miles of almost unknown territory between Brazil and Peru. Details as to how this work is to be done have just been received here. The wireless surveying task is through the dense jungle growth that covers a considerable part of the territory in question. A wireless message will be flashed from a given station at a certain time. If it is received by another station one second later the difference in longitude and the distance separating them can be readily determined. If it had not been for the discovery that wireless could be made the servant of the surveyors in fixing the final frontier lines in the Amazon basin, it would have been necessary for them to cut their paths through tropical forests which in a few months would have been overgrown and completely lost.

ITALY SEES PROBABLE END TO HER EMIGRATION

ROME, March 21.—Agriculture is proving so successful in Tripoli, the new Italian colony in Africa, that the government expects to see soon a great diminution of the usual emigration to the United States in favor of the opportunities near at hand. The Italian soldiers in Tripoli, with the fatigue of war past, and the most urgent needs of agriculture to learn what is best adapted to the soil.

Already immense tracts which have hitherto yielded only thistle are green with the promise of abundant crops, the government having distributed thousands of bushels of grain among the Arabs on the condition that it is returned when the crops are gathered. At Asizla the harvest of barley has been multiplied forty times, and are being grown with great success.

BLIND BOY SCOUTS GUARD THEIR KING

LONDON, March 20.—The King, accompanied by the Queen, yesterday unveiled a memorial stone at the National Institute for the Blind. In an intensely sympathetic speech he expressed his deep interest in all efforts that tended to minimize the suffering that resulted from the deprivation of sight and the hope that those efforts would receive abundant encouragement and support. The delivery of this address formed the climax to a series of remarkable scenes, all of them deeply touching. When their Majesties alighted before the Institute a crowd of their blind subjects from all parts of London stood respectfully among the spectators and cheered loudly. The passage of the King and Queen into the hall was guarded by a squad of blind Boy Scouts, surely the strangest guard of honor ever imagined.

Dr. William L. Moore, who is residing in W. R. Castle's house on the Tantalus ridge, has reported that the earthquake Sunday evening was very severe and that the motion was almost due east and west. The doctor stated that the house was violently shaken. A hanging lamp was swung sharply back and forth. In the servants' quarters a lighted lamp was overturned.

James A. Wilder, who lives on the Mauna ridge, said that the motion at that point was north and south. Residents of Kaimuki and Waikiki report that the shock was most severe along the axis of a line drawn between Leahi and Tantalus.

W. R. Castle stated that he has heard from Molokai and Maui, and that so far as he has been able to discover the tremor did not extend to either. His belief is that the shake was local and that the center of action was on, or to the north of the island of Oahu.

GOODING-FIELD TELLS PLANS TO PINKHAM

Unless the value of the property be known, there is no way of determining how much interest and depreciation must be earned in order to make the plant self-supporting. The recognition of this necessity of the physical valuation of property of public utilities resulted in the provision in the Wisconsin act of 1907 for the structural valuation of the plants of all public service corporations doing business in that State.

"It does not necessarily follow that a survey of the whole field covered by such valuations must be undertaken as a preliminary to the exercise of the duties of the commission. In the State of Wisconsin, for instance, from 1907 to the present date, by far the greater number of plants which have been valued in connection with proceedings in which they were involved. However, a systematic valuation of all property owned and used by public utilities is a need and useful for the convenience of our public should be one of the principal aims of the commission. Where the companies affected have made a careful inventory of their property, the Commission may take this and check it up, and, in fact, test it in the field and in the office item by item. From my experience in similar matters on the mainland, I have found this the general rule of procedure, and it has worked satisfactorily."

Much Capital Represented.

An analysis of the statement recently published by the former chairman of the commission, showing the corporations under the jurisdiction of the Territorial Public Utilities Commission, shows that the aggregate capital stock of these companies, on December 31, 1913, amounted to $15,373,320. Of this amount, two railroad companies were represented by a capitalization of $5,000,000.00 and $2,597,320, respectively; and two transportation companies of $2,250,000 and $1,297,500, respectively. There were seventeen other public utility corporations with an average capitalization of, approximately, only $250,000.

"It has been claimed that the Territorial Public Utilities Commission should act solely in a judicial capacity. Looking to the fact that the duties of the commission, as compared with the duties of similar commissions in the states, will be confined to so limited a number of public utility corporations, and, with few exceptions, with such a comparatively small unit volume of business transacted, I am of the opinion that the executive head of the commission should not only be thoroughly conversant with modern business methods, but should be technically equipped for the position. The responsibility for the efficient carrying out of the law will rest with this official, and his training and experience should be such that he can, at all times, take the initiative in the successful operation of its provisions."

"The matters to be considered by the commission will not be of so complex a nature as to necessitate the retention of outside experts, except in isolated cases, and the limited amount of fees accruing to the commission will not permit the frequent payment of such retainers. With a chairman competent to personally conduct the office and supervise the detailed work of the commission, the maximum of efficiency will be insured with a minimum of outlay."

Drafted a Bill for Governor Frear.

"Under date of November 5, 1912, I prepared, for the consideration of Governor Frear, the draft of a public utilities act, which I considered would meet the requirements of the Territory. This act embodied, among other features, provisions from the New York and Wisconsin Laws of 1907; the New Jersey, California and Kansas Laws of 1911; and the Rhode Island Law of 1912. Although the Public Utilities Act now in force in the Territory is a compromise on the suggested legislation made at the time of the enactment of the law, its essential features, nevertheless, were somewhat similar to all public utility legislation, namely: Investigation, Publicity and Recommendation."

"I take the view, based on practical experience, that the information collected by the commission and the services performed by it, should tend to make the office of the commission a clearing house between the public and the private plants, and the information so collected and compiled should be placed at the disposition of all citizens in the most convenient form, the use of graphic charts being a prominent feature of such publicity."

"The proceedings before the commission, furthermore, should be so conducted as to clarify and educate public opinion."

"Respectfully yours,"

"H. GOODING-FIELD,"

THIEFEN FACING SLANDER CHARGE

Utterances Regarding U. S. District Attorney McCann May Be Taken Up by Grand Jury.

"Being hereto instructed by libellant, who has resumed marital relations with libellee, I hereby discontinue the above entitled cause."

"J. E. McCANN,"

"Attorney for Libellant."

In these words United States District Attorney Jeff McCann yesterday filed a discontinuance of the libel for divorce previously filed by him as private counsel for the plaintiff in the case of Sadie Thielens against her husband, George P. Thielens.

The latest angle to the story connected with the trouble of the Thielens seems to have arisen over the acceptance of a diamond ring by McCann from Mrs. Thielens as a pledge for the payment of a retainer of fifty dollars, that the friends of the district attorney, especially among the local attorneys, are rallying to his support.

May Prosecute Thielens.

As related yesterday it was stated that George P. Thielens now stands in imminent danger of being arrested for slander over statements he is alleged to have made in regard to McCann. The latter's friends feel that McCann's name should be protected and that prosecution of Thielens for slander should follow.

"The greater the truth, the greater the slander," stated an attorney friend of the man whom Thielens is said to have slandered publicly by word of mouth. "We propose to place the matter in the hands of the attorney general or the city attorney and either of these two wise men will likely bring the matter before the grand jury."

The charges made by a stenographer against an official and prominent citizen like McCann are serious and should be proven. "The matter should not be allowed to drop out of sight and the truth should be sifted and brought out so that there can be no question about it. If Thielens has libelled or slandered by friend McCann he should be made to suffer."

McCann is Reticent.

Mr. McCann yesterday refused to discuss further the Thielens charges. He stated he had not seen them, but expected that if the attorney general thought that there was sufficient in the charges to warrant an investigation that he, McCann, would be furnished with a copy.

The charges filed with the attorney general contain three exhibits, being affidavits signed and sworn to by Thielens, a certified copy of McCann's receipt from Mrs. Thielens and an affidavit by Dr. George Herbert. The diamond ring receipt, according to the copy shown in the charges as exhibit B, reads as follows:

"Received of Mrs. Sadie Thielens Twelve and 100 Dollars as costs in Divorce suit Thielens vs. Thielens, also one diamond ring as security for fifty dollars as retainer fee in said cause. Said fee to be paid within three months, and in case not paid within that time pledges has the right to sell at private or public sale."

"(s) J. E. McCANN,"

"March 12-1914."

No statement has been made by Attorney General Thayer in regard to the charges, although it was learned yesterday that he has been giving the matter serious consideration.

BOARD FAVORS EXTENSION OF FRANCHISE

Public Utilities Commission Gives Aid in Washington to Request of Rapid Transit Company—Believed Present Congress Will Pass Bill with Few Amendments—Frear on Ground in National Capital.

The public utilities commission has been endeavoring to expedite the extension of the Honolulu Rapid Transit and Land Company franchise. Governor Pinkham and L. T. Peck appeared before the congressional committee in December and as Governor Walter F. Frear is now working on behalf of the commission. Alexis J. Gignoux, one of the members of the commission stated yesterday that the following transcript from the minutes of the public utilities commission meetings indicate what action has been taken. December 30, 1913 the minutes are as follows:

"With reference to the Honolulu Rapid Transit and Land Co.'s new franchise, the chairman had the following to say: That the bill had been introduced in Congress and public hearings in regard to the same were had in Washington. Governor Pinkham, Mr. Frear, Mr. Peck and Mr. Brown, of Writton & Gray, attorneys for the Honolulu Rapid Transit and Land Co., appeared and testified at the hearings. Mr. Peck informed the Chairman that he would furnish the Commission with a copy of the record taken at the hearings. From present indications the bill will likely pass the present Congress with few amendments."

Again, at the meeting of February 4, 1914:

"The Chairman brought up the matter of urging the approval by Congress of Act 135 and 136 of the Session Laws of 1913. Moved by Mr. Gignoux, seconded by Mr. Mott-Smith, that the Chairman be authorized to confer with the Governor in regard to this matter. Carried."

On February 10, 1914; this record was made:

"In regard to Act 135 of the Session Laws of 1913 the Chairman stated that it might be necessary to prepare a statement, of some length, as to how the approval of that Act will affect the various corporations therein mentioned. The Chairman was instructed to prepare such a statement."

At the March 3 meeting the secretary read a copy of a communication that the chairman had addressed to Governor Frear, at present in Washington, under date of February 26, 1914, re status of Act 135, Session Laws of 1913. The copy of the communication was ordered placed on file. This letter reads:

Honolulu, T. H.,

February 26, 1914.

Governor W. F. Frear,

Army and Navy Club,

Washington, D. C.

Dear Governor:—The public utilities commission have authorized me to inquire into the present status of Act 135, Laws of 1913, before Congress and what further steps are necessary to further the passage of the act by Congress. If there is anything you can do while in Washington, or suggest in this connection your assistance will be greatly appreciated by the commission. Without the approval of this act by Congress the commission is greatly hampered in its operations as to the companies named in the act and much uncertainty and embarrassment has resulted thereby both to the commission and to the companies.

Yours respectfully,

(Sgd) E. A. MOTT-SMITH,

Chairman.
